Arriving in a foreign country, especially one like Japan can be a little daunting. English is understood and spoken, but locals can be a little shy in talking to foreigners and signs are not always so easily understood. So here is a simple guide to help you arrive in Hakuba smoothly, with as little fuss and stress as possible.

Please remember to contact Double Black Staff on your expected arrival time to ensure a speedy pick up from Hakuba Station.

By Train - From Narita airport to Tokyo mainline station

On entering the arrivals hall, after clearing customers, look for a sign saying 'Keisei line, JR Line'. Take the stairs down and look for the ticket booth with the green 'NE'X Narita Express JR' sign above it and ask for a ticket to 'Tokyo on the Narita express' and a Shinkansen from Tokyo to Nagano'.

Once you've bought your ticket, walk to the left of the booth and then turn right. Going through the automated ticket machines and down to the next level. Depending on what ticket you've bought (see below), you will need to stand at the appropriate carriage number marked on the platform floor/track.

Local trains (Aluminium/silver looking) travel through the station as well, so remember not to get on the first one you see, check the notice board and your ticket for the correct departure time. The Narita Express train is grey and red, marked on the side will a 'NEX' Logo. If you do get on a local train by mistake don't panic, it will take you a little longer, but you'll still arrive inTokyo's mainline station.

Your ticket information

Once you get used to the information on the ticket it's easy to understand, but not always obvious at first glance.

Look for sign in the arrivals hall

By Train - From Tokyo station to Nagano

Tokyo mainline station can be very busy and complicated, however if you keep your eye on the Green Nagano Shinkansen signs you'll not go wrong.

Tokyo Station

Take the stairs up two levels to the main concourse, follow the wall to the right, then up a couple of small sets of steps leading to the Shinkansen platforms which will be on your left or right hand side.

Passing through the automated ticket machines, trains will depart from platform 20/21 or possibly 22/23. Check departure boards for details.

Follow green Shinkansen signs

Shinkansen or 'Bullet train'

Platform 20-23, Tokyo station

Nagano Station

Take the escalator up. Turn left on exiting the automatic ticket machines and use the Nagano Station East (Higashi) Exit.

Bus to Hakuba

As you come through the ticketing barrier, proceed ahead of you to bus ticketing office. Once you've Bought your ticket head downstairs tothe No.6 stop for Hakuba buses.

Buses leave at regular intervals from 8am until 8pm. For the latest information on departure times see following pages.

Returning to Narita via Tokyo station

Upon arrival at Tokyo station from Nagano, exit the Nagano Shinkansen automated ticket machines and follow the signs for the Narita Express that leaves from platform 4 on the Sobu line. You will need to take the stairs down two levels to reach the platform.
